Strategic Asset Allocation

Implementation through AIA ILP Funds

* The Strategic Asset Allocation which was constructed for AIA by Mercer (and reviewed on an annual basis) as is based on the expected distribution of returns and assumes a normal distribution with the standard deviation of the statistical distribution of returns generated based on Mercer's 10-year Capital Market Assumptions ("CMAs"). Mercer recommended investment strategy is a set of suggested allocations to asset classes that is generated using Mercer 10-year CMAs. All risks and returns projections in this section are statistical in nature, using Mercer CMAs for the underlying asset classes allocated in this strategy, without considering investment cost. Investors, implementing this strategy using appropriate Investment Linked Life Insurance Policies (ILPs) products as indicated above, are subjected to associated investment costs, and may or may not experience risks and returns as projected by Mercer here, which have been derived using Mercer's CMAs. Actual return and risks experienced by investors is dependent on the combined performances of these allocated ILP Funds.
